Hello From the Executive Director

What do you think of when you hear it's time for Halloween? Since this is the October article, I thought about the role of candy in childhood memories across generations. When I was a child, one of our neighbors always gave out large Mars Bars to all the kids. Many childhood memories revolve around the tradition of receiving a specific type of candy, often passed down through generations. I think we all have that one type of favorite candy.

It is not just about the candy itself, but the continuity of family love and bonding. Sharing a piece of candy brings the sweetness of nostalgia.

During our Halloween Carnival this year, when you reach for that favorite candy, just maybe for a moment, it will bring you back to simpler, care-free times. (The Internet)

Happy Halloween from Harbison Shores,

Elaine M. Till, CRCA, NHA
